HOMESTEAD ROOTERS FAITHFUL TO ADAMS

So proud is Homestead of its product, Manager Jack Adams of the Charleroi basketball team, that tonight it will send 40 people to the game here with the Connellsville five. Two sections of seats have been reserved for them. Laden with noise torturing instruments, the down-river fanatics will help the local fanatics in boosting the team's stock.

Jimmy Brown was laid out in the Uniontown struggle Thursday night by coming in contact with the iron frame of the cage door. He was somewhat injured but will be all right for tonight's struggle.

When Jimmy Brown was relieved of his responsibility in the game with Uniontown Thursday night, Lance Riggs the local boy was given his first trial. Participating in the set-to only about two minutes, he nevertheless made a good impression. Riggs was sent to guard and Al Brown took his brother's place on forward.

A Southside man, with all the queerness for which that wild and woolly portion of Pittsburg wherein he resides is noted has invented a new system for sending in scores, by which the exact position of the basketball player is known If he wants the red tape of his system carried out in its entirety he will have to turn his influence n the direction of having the scorekeepers' salaries boosted a trifle.

It's so kind of them. Here's what the Uniontown News Standard says: "Jacky" Adams' quintet played good basketball last night and outplayed Uniontown in the first half. Adams will make them all go some before the season is very old."

HOW MINORITIES WIN.

A striking example of how minorities win in elections as well as in the control of other affairs is evidenced by the result of the recent election in Washington county. Although the Republicans won every office on the face of the returns only four out of the twelve Republican officials chosen were majority candidates. The other nine were minority candidates; that is, more votes were cast against them than for them, and they only won by the division of parties. Had all the opposition been concentrated on single opposing candidates the Republican party would have been badly defeated in the county. A division of the opposition, however, enabled them to easily win out in every office save one, which was too close for comfort.

This is one of the anomolies of popular rule—that a minority may as often if not more frequently rule than a majority. Indeed, this is so well known in politics that as much effort is made to divide the forces of the opposition as to gain a following. This was former Congressman E. F. Acheson's strong point—to divide his opposition rather than attract friends and a following to his standard. One doesn't have to promise anything to the opposition, while the faithful demand more loaves and fishes than are able to go around. That is the reason also why there is so much corruption in large cities. Every community contains more decent people than it does corruptionists, yet the latter—a very decided minority—is enabled to retain control simply by dividing the opposition.

In big corporations the minority also rules. The great magnates do not as a rule own a majority of the stock of the concerns they manipulate and control. In most cases it is stated they only buy from twenty to twenty-five per cent of the stock of the concerns they desire to control, and by manipulations manage the rest. It is not necessary to invest money in buying a majority of the stock of a corporation ordinarily to control it. All that is essential is to have control of a block bigger than any other single holding, or one that can be readily controlled. This is the method that wins in politics—to have an organization if possible that is larger than any other single one and a combination of opposing forces can more often be prevented than can be rallied to a single opponent. While many opposing forces are splitting hairs on what they call "principles" the minority walks off with the spoils.

OWNED BY THE PEOPLE.

The impression that big railroad corporations are owned by a few plutocrats will be somewhat dissipated by refenences to the statement of the quarterly dividend period of the Pennsylvania Railroad company which is close at hand. This period occurs November 29, when the quarterly dividend of one and one-half per cent will be paid upon 9,077,121 shares of stock, which are divided among 72,782 stockholders. This is the largest number of stockholders that ever before participated in dividends of this road. The number of shareholders increased 3,032 since last August. Of the total number of shareholders 34,219 are women.

By this statement it will be seen that the Pennsylvania Railroad company is owned chiefly by small shareholders, nearly half of whom are women. The stock of this company is dividend into $50 shares on which are paid $3 in dividends a year. The stock is bought and sold in open market, and is only to be obtained when some shareholder wants to realize on his or her investment. The par value of the stock is $453,856,050, and the amount of dividends to be paid this quarter is $6,807,121 of which amount 31 per cent will be distributed in this State, thereby adding to the wealth within the borders of the Commonwealth.

The Pennsylvania Railroad company is more than a mere carrying company, and its prosperity adds to the individual wealth increment of every community in the State. The earnings go back to the people who hold the shares and in turn are re-invested or disbursed in the ordinary course of business within the community where the road carries on traffic.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

"One of the advantages of a rural telephone line is that you can always get desired information whenever you call," remarked a Charleroi woman, who was a visitor to one of the interior county hamlets recently. "Whenever you call a patron on the rural line there all the phones ring, and every one takes down their receiver to listen to the conversation. As soon as you ring you hear a click, click, click, of the receivers, and know that you have a full audience.

"What amused me was the sang froid with which the listeners would chip in and volunteer information when the person called did not happen to know what was asked, as well as to question the speaker for more details when the subject was not thoroughly understood. My first experience was when I called up an acquaintance four or five miles out in the country to ask about a friends who was teaching school somewhere I thought in that vicinity.

"'Hello,' I called, 'can you tell me where Miss ——— teaches?'

"'Really I don't know,' replied my friend, 'I am not acquainted with her. She doesn't teach in our school.'

"'Miss ——— teaches at the ——— school, replied a strange voice.

"'Can you tell me where I could call her up?' I inquired.

"'I don't know,' responded my new friend.

"'Call up at ———'s' replied a third voice, further away on the line. 'Miss ——— boards there.'

"'Thanks,' I replied, highly amused at the conversation, which none of the patrons of the line seemed to think was out of the ordinary. And when I come to think of it I am rather inclined to believe I'd listen to every call if I lived an isolated life as do some of the farm people out in the country."

J. H. Hoon, a prominent Monongahela man, told the following story at a friendly gathering recently:

"A new minister was called to a church. On his first appearance at Sunday School he was tendered the usual invitation to 'say something,' and to be certain that his efforts were not wasted, he was taken before the infant class. The minister somewhat embarrassed by his presentation to the tots of whom he as an unmarried man, knew nothing about, pondered gravely what to say then burst forth:

"My dear children. What am I to say? What can I talk about?"

The class looked as much embarrassed as the minister for a moment then a bright-faced lad jumped up and squeaked:

"Talk about five minutes and stop."

THOUGHTS FROM SOPHOCLES

A lie never lives to be old.

No oath is too binding for a lover.

Nobody loves life like an old man.

The dice of Zeus fall ever luckily.

Thoughts are mightier than strength of hand.

War loves to seek its victims in the young.

The truth is always the strongest argument.

Fortune is not on the side of the faint-hearted.

Children are the anchors that hold a mother to life.

It is better not to live at all than to live disgraced.

A short saying oft contains much wisdom.

In a just cause the weak o'ercome the strong.

Think not that thy word and thine alone must be right.

Do nothing secretly, for time sees and hears all things and discloses all.

Death is not the worst evil; but rather when we wish to die and cannot.

If I am Sophocles, I am not mad; and if I am mad, I am not Sophocles.

A wise player ought to accept his throws and score them, not bewail his luck.

If it were possible to heal sorrow by weeping and to raise the dead with tears, gold were less prized than grief.

There is an ancient saying famous among men, that thou shouldst not judge fully of a man's life before he dieth, whether it should be called blest or wretched.

Valuable Counterfeits.

There are cases on record where counterfeit coins are worth more than the coin which they imitate. In former times platinum, which has about the same weight as gold, was worth only one-third as much. The counterfeiter sawed the real coin into three sections, leaving both the obverse and the reverse sides untouched. The third part was taken out and platinum substituted for it. A little milling machine and some skillfull soldering did the rest. The counterfeit was almost beyond detection, even to its ring. Since those days platinum has increased tremendously in value, and a coin counterfeited in this way is now worth more than the genuine.

The Rayo Lamp

It Never Flickers

The long winter evenings give a woman a splendid chance for sewing or embroidery; but her eyes suffer from the strain unless she has a good light.

The Rayo is the best lamp made.

It gives a strong, diffused light that is remarkably easy to the eyes. There is no glare to it; no flicker. It lights up a whole room.

The Rayo is an economical lamp, too.

You get the most possible light-value for the oil burned; and the Rayo itself is a low-priced lamp. Yet it is a handsome lamp—an ornament to any room in the house.

The Rayo Lamp is easily lighted without removing shade or chimney; easy to clean and rewick. Made of solid brass, nickel-plated; also in numerous other styles and finishes.

Ask your dealer to show you his line of Rayo lamps; or write for descriptive circular to any agency of

Rayo Lamp

It Never Flickers

The long winter evenings give a woman a splendid chance for sewing or embroidery; but her eyes suffer from the strain unless she has a good light.

The Rayo is the best lamp made.

It gives a strong, diffused light that is remarkably easy to the eyes. There is no glare to it; no flicker. It lights up a whole room.

The Rayo is an economical lamp, too.

You get the most possible light-value for the oil burned; and the Rayo itself is a low-priced lamp. Yet it is a handsome lamp—an ornament to any room in the house.

The Rayo Lamp is easily lighted without removing shade or chimney; easy to clean and rewick. Made of solid brass, nickel-plated; also in numerous other styles and finishes.

Ask your dealer to show you his line of Rayo lamps; or write for descriptive circular to any agency of

A Warm Bathroom

PERFECTION SMOKELESS OIL HEATER

Every mother should be careful that the children take their baths in a warm room. The chill of a cold room is dangerous after coming out of the hot water.

A Perfection Smokeless Oil Heater brings bathroom or bedroom to just the degree of warmth you want in five or ten minutes. All you have to do is to touch a match.

The Perfection Heater burns nine hours on one filling and is always ready for use. You can move it anywhere it is needed. There is no waste of fuel and heat warming unoccupied rooms. Just the heat you want, when and where you want it.

The Perfection is fitted with an automatic-locking flame spreader that prevents the wick being turned high enough to smoke and is easy to remove and drop back when cleaning.

Drums finished either in turquoise-blue enamel or plain steel; light and ornamental, yet strong and durable—suitable for any room in any house.

Among the Theatres

THE PALACE—CHARLEROI

Another thrilling Irish photoplay was shown at the Palace Theatre this week. It was by the same cast and embraced the same Irish settings as in the "Colleen Bawn" films which made such a decided hit some time ago. The title of this play was "Rory O'Moore," although the plot was founded on the famous poetic narrative of "Shamus O'Brien." Rory O'Moore, the Irish patriot, incurs the hostility of the British governmenment and a price is set upon his head. His hiding place is betrayed by the presence of his sweetheart, pretty Kathleen, and the redcoats give chase. Rory jumps into the river to swim across, and is about to succeed, when one of hs pursurers becomes exhausted. The intrepid patriot rescues the drowning soldier and is captured. On the scaffold the priest cuts his bonds and Rory escapes, but the priest is shot to death by the soldiery. With Kathleen, Rory escapes to America. Miss Helen Atwill, the sopranao vocalist, was never in better form, and rendered some charming selections during the week, both in illustrated and spot light songs. Large audiences greeted the Pathe Weekly Bulletin Wednesday evening, which is one of the best educators in current event ever devised

THE STAR—CHARLEROI.

A splendid military picture at the Star Theatre was the "National Guard Encampment at Fort Riley." This showed the various manoeuevers of the citizen soldiery as well as life on the tented field in these piping times of peacs. "The Branded Indian." "Thou Shalt Not Steal," "The Higher Law" and others were among the feature films showed by this popular play house during the week. The pictures are changed daily and three films are shown each night and at the daily matinee that begins at 2 o'clock Manager Tom Cowan is making preparations to take care of the holiday shoppers when the Christmas season opens. The Star with a matinee daily will afford an excellent rest place for weary shoppers who will not only find a comfortable place to sit but will be highly entertained.

THE GRAND—PITTSBURG.

Eva Tanguay's engagement as the stellar feature of Marager Harry Davos' vaudeville show in the Grand next week will be signalized by the introduction of a number of new exclusive songs and a dispay of sartorial finery entirely characteristic of the madcap comedienne. It is rather an achievement on the part of Manager Davis and Miss Tanguay to have made this engagement possible, since the eccentric artist journeys all the way from New Orleans to Pittsburg by special train in order to keep her appointment at the matinee Monday afternoon. Among her associates in the program next week will be Mrs. Gene Hughes and her company in Edgar Allen Wolff's new comedy playlet entitled "Youth." Mrs. Hughes is a comedienne of legitimate methods and great personal popularity.

The Frey Twins those two handsome young Apollos, will entertain with an exposition of scientific wrestling showing the Greco-Roman, the catch-as-catch-can and varous other styles of wrestling.

The Grazers are to provide divertissement of music and dancing.

Japan sends her ablest gymnasts and equilibrists, the Five Satsudos, and one of their foremost comedians, Mr. Mankicki, to show Pittsburg how the orientals entertain at home.

Marie Fenton, who has been called the London pet, will give a repertoire of catchy songs.

Al Lawrence the wizard of joy, will deliver a monologue of characteristic humor in addition to which Manager Davis offers a variety of other acts and a motion picture exhibit

THE NIXON—PITTSBURG.

"The Follies" are coming, three cheers! The famous Ziegfeld entertainment known as "The Follies," vintage of 1911, will be the special attraction at the Nixon next week, starting Monday evening. During its run at the Jardin de Paris, last summer, New Yorkers raved over this entertainment, and in Chicago, where the "Ziegfeld Follies" just concluded an eight weeks engagement at the Colonial Theatre Chicagoeans shouted its praises. As to the cast it is even greater than Ziegfeld has ever gathered before, including such theatrical 'pets' as Bessie McCoy, Walter Percival, Fanny Brice, Leon Errol, Chas. A. Mason, Vera Maxwell, Arline Roiey Eunice Hamilton, Wm. Bonnell, Peter Swift, Brown and Byer, Chas. Hessong, Fawn Conway, Wm. G. Schrode, The Dolly Twins, also Bert Williams and the "75 Ziegfeld Beauty Girls."

"Ziegfeld Follies" is in two acts. The entire entertainment is in 16 scenes which move with the usual Ziegfeld rapidity. From a production standpoint, it is really two shows in one and takes a special train with four baggage cars to carry its material. Some of the big sets are "The Custom House," "Jardin de Paris," "California Poppy Field," the famous symbolical play "Every-wife" with its four scenes; the traversty on "Pinafore," "Tad's Daffydils," the sensational Barbary Coast scene; The New York Central Depot, "Exterior of the Depot," (showing it in course of construction) and a fifteen minute peep of "The Pink Lady." There are 24 songs hits in the "Follies" most of which are those of Bessie McCoy, including the famous "Daffydils" songs Bert Williams' own compositions and excruciatingly funny pantomines are another feature.

Mail orders will be filled in order received. Matinees Wednesday and Saturday. Seats on sale Thursday, November 16.

THE ALVIN—PITTSBURG

A veritable carnival of mirth is scheduled to begin at the Alvin Theatre the week beginning Monday, November 20 following May Irwin, when Lew Fields presents Marie Dressler for a return engagement in her latest and greatest triumph, "Tillie's Nightmare." The play is dscribed as a 'mixture of mirth and melody" and Marie Dressler is said to have the greatest character that she has ever played

"Tillie's Nightmare" was written expressly for Miss Dressler by Edgar Smith, with music by A. Baldwin Sloane. It is in two acts and eight scenes. Miss Dressler is seen in the character of Tillie Blobbs a household drudge in a boarding house in Skaneatales, a small town in New York State. The boarding house is run by her mother, and Tillies is discovered serving the boarders with their evening meal The party around the table includes a broken down bookkeeper; a team of cheap vaudeville actors; a country lover; a brassy drummer; and a stuck-up sister, who lets Tillie do all the work of the family. Tillie's lover has promised to take her to the theatre, but at the last moment she finds she must stay home and help her mother make pickles. Tired out, she falls asleep, and her nightmare forms the story of the play Mr. Fields has surrounded his star with a company of most excellent merit, including such favories as Eleanor Kent, Ethel Fairbanks, Nellie De Grasse, May Howard, Lottie Urat, Alletta Bridgefort, Horace Newman, John Mayon, George Gorman, Jack Hallahan, Jack Kennedy, Jr., Frank Smiley, Gordon and Harper and Lew Fields' Dancing Girls.

Coffins Too Small for Him.

After literally sleeping his life away for 83 years, John Turner, Washington's giant, seven feet seven inches tall, was hampered in death as in life by his size, and his undertakers could not find a coffin in all Washington large enough to fit him. One had to be made in Baltimore of these amazing proportions: Eight feet long, two and a half feet wide and one and a half feet deep.

Is a Vassar Girl.

Miss Helen Hughes, daughter of Judge Charles E. Hughes of the Supreme Court, is a Vassar sophomore. Like her mother, she is very clever at mathematics, and she is very fond of reading, like her father. During the holidays she visited her family in Washington and very much enjoyed the change from college.

All the People May Read.

At a meeting of the state library committee of the Massachusetts Federation of Women's Clubs, it was brought out that there is not a single town or city in the state without a library. These libraries are the result of the work of the traveling library in many instances.

Help for the Machinist.

The machinist who uses shaper and milling machines knows the difficulty when making small parts of squaring thin pieces on account of the trouble encountered in setting the piece squarely while tightening the vise. To escape these trials, take a piece of thin steel of proper length and breadth, harden, and magnetize Place this against the fixed jaw of the vise and it will adhere firmly. When the work is brought in contact with it, the small piece will also adhere and the vise can be clamped to the best advantage The face of the magnetized strip should be kept free of chips and should be recharged frequently

Need of Public Washhouses.

The poor are dirty because they cannot afford to be clean, and not from inclination of choice. As the Dublin woman said to the doctor who thoughtlessly suggested that her child of six was old enough to be washed, "It's easy for you to talk of washin', with yer hot and cold taps, but what are the likes of me to do with only the loan of my neighbor's pump?" In the multitude of schemes occupying the attention of public bodies the establishment and maintenance of public washhouses, with due regard to the prevention of the spread of infection, ought to take a foremost place—Medical Press and Circular.

Eggs Many Years

A somewhat remarkable discovery was made in demolishing the Justiciary buildings in Jail square, Glasgow. Hidden among the rafters was a hen's nest containing 16 eggs, which those who know say must have lain there for about forty years When exposed to the air the eggs dissolved into dust.

Movement of the Air.

The movement of air is variously designated, according to its velocity, as a zephyr, breeze, wind, gale or hurricane. With fogs the designations are mists, slight, moderate or thick. A dense or thick fog, according to the weather bureau, obscures objects at a distance of 1,000 feet.

Use Hot Sand

When your hot-water bottles leak do not throw them away, but fill with hot sand. Make the sand hot in the oven and pour into the bottle. It will keep hot much longer than water.

Famous English Parish.

In addition to its alien population, bygone Stepney was credited with a large number of the citizens of other towns on account of the current notion that all children born at sea belonged to the parish of Stepney, a notion probably due to the large number of sailors who lived there Paupers who had been born at sea were gravely sent to Stepney from all parts of the country, and from time to time the law courts had to be called upon to decide against their claims.—London Chronicle

Growing Beet Sugar in England.

Remarkable success has attended the efforts of growers of sugar beets in Herefordshire, England A good high average for a crop is 15 tons to the acre of roots tearing 15 per cent. of sugar. The Herefordshire farmers, in spite of rough and ready methods and small knowledge of the crop, grew up to 27½ tons to the acre, with a sugar content of 19 per cent. The purity of the sugar was exceptionally high.

A Warm Bathroom

PERFECTION SMOKELESS OIL HEATER

Every mother should be careful that the children take their baths in a warm room. The chill of a cold room is dangerous after coming out of the hot water.

A Perfection Smokeless Oil Heater brings bathroom or bedroom to just the degree of warmth you want in five or ten minutes. All you have to do is to touch a match.

The Perfection Heater burns nine hours on one filling and is always ready for use. You can move it anywhere it is needed. There is no waste of fuel and heat warming unoccupied rooms. Just the heat you want, when and where you want it.

The Perfection is fitted with an automatic-locking flame spreader that prevents the wick being turned high enough to smoke and is easy to remove and drop back when cleaning.

Drums finished either in turquoise-blue enamel or plain steel; light and ornamental, yet strong and durable—suitable for any room in any house.

Among the Theatres

THE PALACE—CHARLEROI

Another thrilling Irish photoplay was shown at the Palace Theatre this week. It was by the same cast and embraced the same Irish settings as in the "Colleen Bawn" films which made such a decided hit some time ago. The title of this play was "Rory O'Moore," although the plot was founded on the famous poetic narrative of "Shamus O'Brien." Rory O'Moore, the Irish patriot, incurs the hostility of the British government and a price is set upon his head. His hiding place is betrayed by the presence of his sweetheart, pretty Kathleen, and the redcoats give chase. Rory jumps into the river to swim across, and is about to succeed, when one of hs pursurers becomes exhausted. The intrepid patriot rescues the drowning soldier and is captured. On the scaffold the priest cuts his bonds and Rory escapes, but the priest is shot to death by the soldiery. With Kathleen, Rory escapes to America. Miss Helen Atwill, the sopranao vocalist, was never in better form, and rendered some charming selections during the week, both in illustrated and spot light songs. Large audiences greeted the Pathe Weekly Bulletin Wednesday evening, which is one of the best educators in current event ever devised

THE STAR—CHARLEROI.

A splendid military picture at the Star Theatre was the "National Guard Encampment at Fort Riley." This showed the various manoeuevers of the citizen soldiery as well as life on the tented field in these piping times of peace. "The Branded Indian." "Thou Shalt Not Steal," "The Higher Law" and others were among the feature films showed by this popular play house during the week. The pictures are changed daily and three films are shown each night and at the daily matinee that begins at 2 o'clock Manager Tom Cowan is making preparations to take care of the holiday shoppers when the Christmas season opens. The Star with a matinee daily will afford an excellent rest place for weary shoppers who will not only find a comfortable place to sit but will be highly entertained.

THE GRAND—PITTSBURG.

Eva Tanguay's engagement as the stellar feature of Marager Harry Davos' vaudeville show in the Grand next week will be signalized by the introduction of a number of new exclusive songs and a dispay of sartorial finery entirely characteristic of the madcap comedienne. It is rather an achievement on the part of Manager Davis and Miss Tanguay to have made this engagement possible, since the eccentric artist journeys all the way from New Orleans to Pittsburg by special train in order to keep her appointment at the matinee Monday afternoon. Among her associates in the program next week will be Mrs. Gene Hughes and her company in Edgar Allen Wolff's new comedy playlet entitled "Youth." Mrs. Hughes is a comedienne of legitimate methods and great personal popularity..

The Frey Twins, those two handsome young Apollos, will entertain with an exposition of scientific wrestling showing the Greco-Roman, the catch-as-catch-can and varous other styles of wrestling.

The Grazers are to provide divertissement of music and dancing.

Japan sends her ablest gymnasts and equilibrists, the Five Satsudos, and one of their foremost comedians, Mr. Mankicki, to show Pittsburg how the orientals entertain at home.

Marie Fenton, who has been called the London pet, will give a repertoire of catchy songs.

Al Lawrence the wizard of joy, will deliver a monologue of characteristic humor in addition to which Manager Davis offers a variety of other acts and a motion picture exhibit

THE NIXON—PITTSBURG.

"The Follies" are coming, three cheers! The famous Ziegfeld entertainment known as "The Follies," vintage of 1911, will be the special attraction at the Nixon next week, starting Monday evening. During its run at the Jardin de Paris, last summer, New Yorkers raved over this entertainment, and in Chicago, where the "Ziegfeld Follies" just concluded an eight weeks engagement at the Colonial Theatre Chicagoeans shouted its praises. As to the cast it is even greater than Ziegfeld has ever gathered before, including such theatrical 'pets' as Bessie McCoy, Walter Percival, Fanny Brice, Leon Errol, Chas. A. Mason, Vera Maxwell, Arline Roley Eunice Hamilton, Wm. Bonnell, Peter Swift, Brown and Byer, Chas. Hessong, Fawn Conway, Wm. G. Schrode, The Dolly Twins, also Bert Williams and the "75 Ziegfeld Beauty Girls."

"Ziegfeld Follies" is in two acts. The entire entertainment is in 16 scenes which move with the usual Ziegfeld rapidity. From a production standpoint, it is really two shows in one and takes a special train with four baggage cars to carry its material. Some of the big sets are "The Custom House," "Jardin de Paris," "California Poppy Field," the famous symbolical play "Every-wife" with its four scenes; the traversty on "Pinafore," "Tad's Daffydils," the sensational Barbary Coast scene; The New York Central Depot, "Exterior of the Depot," (showing it in course of construction) and a fifteen minute peep of "The Pink Lady." There are 24 songs hits in the "Follies" most of which are those of Bessie McCoy, including the famous "Daffydils" songs Bert Williams' own compositions and excruciatingly funny pantomines are another feature.

Mail orders will be filled in order received. Matinees Wednesday and Saturday. Seats on sale Thursday, November 16.

THE ALVIN—PITTSBURG

A vertiable carnival of mirth is scheduled to begin at the Alvin Theatre the week beginning Monday, November 20 following May Irwin, when Lew Fields presents Marie Dressler for a return engagement in her latest and greatest triumph, "Tillie's Nightmare." The play is dscribed as a 'mixture of mirth and melody" and Marie Dressler is said to have the greatest character that she has ever played

"Tillie's Nightmare" was written expressly for Miss Dressler by Edgar Smith, with music by A. Baldwin Sloane. It is in two acts and eight scenes. Miss Dressler is seen in the character of Tillie Blobbs a household drudge in a boarding house in Skaneatales, a small town in New York State. The boarding house is run by her mother, and Tillies is discovered serving the boarders with their evening meal The party around the table includes a broken-down bookkeeper; a team of cheap vaudeville actors; a country lover; a brassy drummer; and a stuck-up sister, who lets Tillie do all the work of the family. Tillie's lover has promised to take her to the theatre, but at the last moment she finds she must stay home and help her mother make pickles. Tired out, she falls asleep, and her nightmare forms the story of the play Mr. Fields has surrounded his star with a company of most excellent merit, including such favories as Eleanor Kent, Ethel Fairbanks, Nellie De Grasse, May Howard, Lottie Urat, Alletta Bridgefort, Horace Newman, John Mayon, George Gorman, Jack Hallahan, Jack Kennedy, Jr., Frank Smiley, Gordon and Harper and Lew Fields' Dancing Girls.

Coffins Too Small for Him.

After literally sleeping his life away for 33 years, John Turner, Washington's giant, seven feet seven inches tall, was hampered in death as in life by his size, and his undertakers could not find a coffin in all Washington large enough to fit him. One had to be made in Baltimore of these amazing proportions: Eight feet long, two and a half feet wide and one and a half feet deep.

Is a Vassar Girl.

Miss Helen Hughes, daughter of Judge Charles E. Hughes of the Supreme Court, is a Vassar sophomore. Like her mother, she is very clever at mathematics, and she is very fond of reading, like her father. During the holidays she visited her family in Washington and very much enjoyed the change from college.

All the People May Read.

At a meeting of the state library committee of the Massachusetts Federation of Women's Clubs, it was brought out that there is not a single town or city in the state without a library. These libraries are the result of the work of the traveling library in many instances.

Help for the Machinist.

The machinist who uses shaper and milling machines knows the difficulty when making small parts of squaring thin pieces on account of the trouble encountered in setting the piece squarely while tightening the vise. To escape these trials, take a piece of thin steel of proper length and breadth, harden, and magnetize. Place this against the fixed jaw of the vise and it will adhere firmly. When the work is brought in contact with it, the small piece will also adhere and the vise can be clamped to the best advantage. The face of the magnetized strip should be kept free of chips and should be recharged frequently.

Need of Public Washhouses.

The poor are dirty because they cannot afford to be clean, and not from inclination of choice. As the Dublin woman said to the doctor who thoughtlessly suggested that her child of six was old enough to be washed, "It's easy for you to talk of washin', with yer hot and cold taps, but what are the likes of me to do with only the loan of my neighbor's pump?" In the multitude of schemes occupying the attention of public bodies the establishment and maintenance of public washhouses, with due regard to the prevention of the spread of infection, ought to take a foremost place.—Medical Press and Circular.

Eggs many Years.

A somewhat remarkable discovery was made in demolishing the Justiciary buildings in Jail square, Glasgow. Hidden among the rafters was a hen's nest containing 16 eggs, which those who know say must have lain there for about forty years. When exposed to the air the eggs dissolved into dust.

Movement of the Air.

The movement of air is variously designated, according to its velocity, as a zephyr, breeze, wind, gale or hurricane. With fogs the designations are mists, slight, moderate or thick. A dense or thick fog, according to the weather bureau, obscures objects at a distance of 1,000 feet.

Use Hot Sand.

When your hot-water bottles leak do not throw them away, but fill with hot sand. Make the sand hot in the oven and pour into the bottle. It will keep hot much longer than water.

Different Opinions.

There are so many differing opinions. A young married woman's idea of an important news item is the name she has given to her baby.—Topeka Capital.

Life's Limitations.

"Our present horison is our greatest reach of sight, but unless we make our way toward it we shall never find a farther reach."

Have You All These?

The accessories of dignity are a decent amount of pride, a little bit of common sense, and a thorough familiarity with yourself.

Famous English Parish.

In addition to its alien population, bygone Stepney was credited with a large number of the citizens of other towns on account of the current notion that all children born at sea belonged to the parish of Stepney, a notion probably due to the large number of sailors who lived there. Paupers who had been born at sea were gravely sent to Stepney from all parts of the country, and from time to time the law courts had to be called upon to decide against their claims.—London Chronicle.

Growing Beet Sugar in England.

Remarkable success has attended the efforts of growers of sugar beets in Herefordshire, England. A good high average for a crop is 15 tons to the acre of roots bearing 15 per cent. of sugar. The Herefordshire farmers, in spite of rough and ready methods and small knowledge of the crop, grew up to 27½ tons to the acre, with a sugar content of 19 per cent. The purity of the sugar was exceptionally high.
